

Special Egg Event

Volunteer Duties

Car directors: 4 volunteers (Point parents and children the correct door and where to park.)

Volunteer Table: 1 worker and 1 Director (This table will be where all volunteers sign up, get a name tag, and are directed to their job)

FIRST Aid: 2 workers (This will be an area for bandaids and ice packs, anything serious will be handled by local EMS. I would prefer this station have people with a medical background training)

Registration Table: 6 workers (Helping families fill out registration forms and letting them know how the egg hunt works)

Egg Directors: 6 workers (Guide families to stations and bathrooms and answer questions)

Raffle prizes: 2-3 workers (Draw a name from the registration files and make sure family receives prize at the egg return location)

Egg Fairies: 8 workers (Watching children who may not be getting any eggs, go drop an egg close to them or hand it to them)

Egg Sweepers and Droppers: 10workers (After the 1st egg hunt I will be asking volunteers to pick up the magnet filled eggs that might have been missed, and then lay the next round of eggs out for the the 2nd egg hunt. They will then lay more eggs after the second egg hunt and prepare for the 3rd hunt)

Egg Shushers: 4 workers (During the sensory egg hunt, noise will need to be kept at a minimum. These children will also be overwhelmed with someone touching or talking to them, so please make sure to ask a parent before engaging their child)

Egg Buddies: 20-40 workers (Your job is to wait by the registration table and if a family would like someone to help their child hunt, you are their helper)

Prize Table: 10 workers (After the first egg hunt, the magnetic eggs will be returned and children may get candy from the candy buckets or small trinkets for the prize table. After the second and third egg hunt children can turn in candy for other prizes if they wish)

Egg Return: 10 workers (Once the egg hunt is over, children will return their eggs and only take home the candy and prizes)

Thank you! Our volunteers are essential to the success of the Special Egg Event!
